HISTORY in the HEADSTONES

The Lye & Wollescote Cemetery Trail

Over 300 men from The Lye & Wollescote townships lost their lives in two World Wars. There are twenty-five Commonwealth War Graves in the cemetery, of which fifteen are the graves of men who died in WW1 and ten graves of men who served in WW2.

11: Pte. George L. Perkins

George Perkins, the youngest WW1 soldier to be buried in the cemetery, was the only one of the fifteen not to have a Commonwealth War Grave headstone. He died of his wounds in hospital and was buried with full military honours.

21: Pte. Enoch Holloway

Enoch Holloway was the only WW2 serviceman not to have a Commonwealth War Grave headstone. He died in hospital from sickness or injury sustained during training and was buried with his father who had died three months earlier.
